About Kampnagel

Kampnagel is Germany's largest production and performance facility for national and international freelance artists and is one of the most reputable venue for the performing arts. In 1984, after the Deutsche Schauspielhaus had left the venue, the former crane factory was rebuilt into a multifunctional theatre building. Each season, with its six stages, the cinema, rehearsal space and the restaurant, Kampnagel attracts tens of thousands of visitors.

We offer a wide range of different productions to our visitors, from international guest performances, the international summer festival and the emphasis on certain topics, the productions of freelance theater groups in Hamburg and the support of the new blood artists. We present a spectrum of aesthetical standpoints and groundbreaking tendencies not only in theater, dance and performance, but also in music, the fine arts and architecture.

Kampnagel is a productive laboratory for ideas, a think tank, a place for controversy, but also a vivid concert hall, music lounge, club. We work on new formats, that seek to explore contemporary forms of public life, communication, interaction, participation and knowledge transfer.

Kampnagel is not only a temple for the fine arts. It is open to the society and the surroundings. We understand Hamburg as not only the city being inhabited by our visitors, but also as a field to be explored, a place stocked with new material, a site worth investigating and of course as a stage, which we enter with mobile formats.

As a whole, we present roughly 100 premieres, debut performances and nonrecurring even per season, which attract over 165.000 visitors per season each year.

Today 12.000 square meters are being used for artistic purposes:

6 performance spaces:

[k6] 460 square metres of stage surface, 850 seats

[k2] 180 square metres of stage surface, 280 seats

[k1] 270 square metres of stage surface, 180 seats

Vestibule 860 square metres, without spectator's rostrum

[KMH] 280 square metres, without spectator's rostrum

[p1] 300 square metres, without interrostrum

History

KAMPNAGEL

... in former times a famous factory in the Hamburg workers district of Barmbek – today an international centre for the contemporary representative arts:

THE FACTORY ERA:

- 1865 Founded as Nagel & Kaemp ironworks.
- 1875-1968 Production of large-scale machinery; initially rice mills and then primarily cargo equipment and cranes. Even today, Kampnagel Cranes can be found in harbours all over the world. During this time stages the novel "Maschinenfabrik N&K" (Machine Factory N&K) by Willi Bredel, depicting the story of the aborted 1923 workers' uprising against the Weimar Republic.
- 1939 Armament factory
- 1945 Re-opening of the civil production of cargo equipment for ships and harbours
- 1968 As a result of the triumph of the container technology, the demand for traditional Kampnagel products is reduced. The factory is sold to the Demag Corporation and fork-lift trucks are manufactured on the premises until 1981.

THE THEATRE ERA:

- 1981 with the closure of the manufacturing plant ends the factory era of Kampnagel. The senate and district plan to demolish the halls and construct a housing estate; the demolition is initially suspended.
- 1982 "DEUTSCHES SCHAUSPIELHAUS" uses a part of the building during the refurbishment of their main building on the Kirchenallee as the headquarter for the whole company, for direction and administration over workplaces and rehearsal stages through to performance venues.
- The first festival "BESETZUNGSPROBE" on the premises is organised by the Hamburg freelance theatre groups who see an ideal production and performance space for their work here.
- 1985 From March onwards there is a continuous run of performances at KAMPNAGEL under the commercial direction of Hannah Hurtzig and Mücke Quinckardt. In July/August: regular INTERNATIONAL SUMMER FESTIVAL under the direction of Dieter Jaenicke. To begin with, the premises are supported by the Hamburg Cultural Authority.
- 1986 The first women's festival on the premises, "HAMMONIALE", under the direction of Irmgard Schleier; since then, the festival takes place in a biennial cycle, with sponsorship from societies; since 1995 it has been produced under the artistic direction of Isabella Vertes-Schütter and Irmgard Schleier.

- 1987 INTERNATIONAL THEATRE-DANCE FESTIVAL, staged by the Hamburg State Opera; subsequent regular performances in the hall [k6] put on by the State Opera with works by people such as Robert Wilson and John Neumeier, amongst others.
- Official opening of the gallery [kx] in the administration headquarters; the gallery is run by a self-governing committee and regularly presents exhibitions, installations and performances by contemporary and international artists.
- Official opening of the exhibition room [k3] with "New Art in Hamburg", curated by the director of the Art Society, Karl-Egon Vester.
- 1990 Appointment of a Kampnagel council. New leadership: Hans Man in 't Veld and Wolfram Kremer, who are responsible for the regular programme of performances in the halls.
- 1991 Jürgen Zielinski launches a project under the name "YOUTH THEATRE FOR HAMBURG AT KAMPNAGEL" (JAK), to create an independent Hamburg youth theatre.
- 1998 The Cultural Authority of the Free and Hanseatic City of Hamburg decides on a structural reform of Kampnagel: Starting from the 2001/2002 season, the Kampnagel International Culture Factory Ltd is not only a company institution, but also stages a theatre festival in the summer, to replace the formerly independent "Hamburg International Summer Theatre Festival".
- Ceremonial opening of Kampnagel and commencement of the 1998/99 season with the Japanese theatre performance Dumb Type.
- 2001 the new artistic director Gordana Vnuk introduces herself to the audience for the first time with the new Kampnagel Summer Festival, LAOKOON. In 2002, the Japanese theatre expert, Hidenaga Otori, takes over the artistic direction of the festival for three years.
- The long-term future of Kampnagel is secured by the completion of a tenancy agreement with the Sprinkenhof AG, for a period of 15 years.
- Gordana Vnuk opens her first season with a spectacular European premiere – the Japanese group ISHINHA present their Jan-Jan opera "Ryusei".
- 2007 Amelie Deuffhard opens her first season at Kampnagel with the BESETZUNGSORGIE with Alvis Hermanis' „Sonja”, Gutierrez' "Retrospective exhibitionist", the Orchestra-Karaoke, a concert by Decembrists and many other performances. The event takes place all over the entire Kampnagel-area and attracts over 3000 people.
- Kampnagel K3 - center for choreography/dance plan Hamburg opens with a three-day-long happening with the imaginative choreographer Veronika Blumstein. K3 is a project of Tanzplan Deutschland, which aims to strengthen contemporary dance in Germany.

- 2008 The INTERNATIONAL SOMMERFESTIVAL HAMBURG 2008 under the new direction of Matthias von Hartz immediately gains approval with a record of nearly 19,000 visitors. Apart from dance and theatre world premieres for the first time there is a rich music program as well as expert lectures on contemporary socio-economical topics.
- 2009 Kampnagel dance dramaturgs Jochen Roller and Anne Kersting curate the first LIVE ART FESTIVAL, which will take place for five years in cooperation with seven European partners at Kampnagel.
- Eva Maria Stütting curates the YOUNGSTAR FEST. The first performing arts festival by youngsters for youngsters. International, professional artists develop and present productions together with pupils from Hamburg.
- New visitors record at the INTERNATIONAL SUMMER FESTIVAL HAMBURG. 20,500 guests visit Kampnagel.
- The DANCE CONGRESS 2009 organized by Katharina von Wilcke and Sabine Gehm at Kampnagel gains an overwhelming success. Over 3000 dance-creative and dance-interested participate at the four-day congress.
- 2010 Kampnagel is the pulsating center for finer arts in Hamburg: Artistic Director Amelie Deuflhard and their team announce the 2009/10 record of attendances of 143.000 spectators.
- With the coproduction of Nature theatre of Oklaohma and Philippe Quesne as well as a complete program of dance, theater, art and lectures the 2010 INTERNATIONAL SOMMERFESTIVAL HAMBURG establishes another audience record with over 28,000 visitors.
- Amelie Deuflhard extends her contract as Artistic Director of Kampnagel until 2017. "Amelie Deuflhard strengthened Kampnagel role as an internationally relevant place performing arts" says Reinhard Stuth, Hamburg's senator for culture and media.
- 2013 András Siebold becomes the new artistic director of the International Summerfestival Hamburg 2013...
